Section I. GENERAL

1. Purpose. a. This regulation prescribes procedures for the computation of sentences of Army and Air Force military personnel committed to confinement pursuant to provisions of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. Such personnel are hereinafter referred to as prisoners.

b. The premature or tardy release of prisoners from confinement results in poor prisoner morale and reflects unfavorably upon the administration of confinement by the Departments of the Army and the Air Force. Further, it is imperative that the essential legal rights of the individual be protected by insuring that he is not held beyond the proper release date. Accordingly, commanding officers of confinement facilities will exercise close and continuing command supervision over the computation of sentence expiration dates.

c. Questions regarding clarification of computation of expiration date for Army prisoners will be forwarded to The Provost Marshal General, ATTN:

PMGK, Headquarters, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C. 20315. Questions regarding clarification of computation for Air Force prisoners will be forwarded to Headquarters, USAF (AFISL-5) Washington, D.C. 20333.

2. Definitions. For the purpose of this regulation, the following definitions, in addition to those contained in AR 633-5 and AFM 125-2, are applicable:

- (1) Good conduct time. Any deductions from the term of a sentence for good conduct.
- (2) Extra good time. Any deductions from the term of a sentence which may be earned for actual employment in assignments for which extra good time has been approved.

b. Inoperative time. Any period of time during which a prisoner is not credited with serving his sentence to confinement (para. 5b).

*This regulation supersedes AR 633-30, 27 September 1955, including C 2, 28 June 1960, and chapter 6, AFM 125-2, 1 September 1956.

c. Full term of sentence. The entire sentence to confinement without deductions for abatements.

d. Short term of sentence. The full term of sentence as reduced by credit for abatements.

e. Maximum release date. (Applicable to sentences adjudged on or after 31 May 1951.) The day preceding the date determined by adding the full term of the sentence to the beginning date of the sentence.

f. Minimum release date. (Applicable to sentences adjudged on or after 31 May 1951.) The maximum release date reduced by the actual number of days of abatement credited on the sentence and further adjusted by forfeitures of abatement, where applicable.

g. Short term release date. (Applicable to sentences adjudged prior to 31 May 1951.) The day preceding the date determined by adding the term of the sentence as reduced by abatements to the beginning date of the sentence.

h. Parole violator term. The unexpired term of the sentence to be served by a prisoner who has violated parole determined as follows:

- (1) For a prisoner whose sentence was adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, such term will be determined by extending the short term release date of the sentence prior to his going on parole, by the time difference (number of calendar months and days) between the date of release on parole and the date of return to confinement and further extending that date on an actual day basis by the number of days good conduct time to the prisoner's credit on the date of parole. Such term may later be reduced by the restoration of the good conduct time forfeited.
- (2) For a prisoner whose sentence is adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, such term will be the actual number of days difference between the date of release on parole and the maximum expiration date of his sentence. This term may be reduced by the good conduct time which may be earned on the parole violator term at the rate applicable to the full term of the sentence. The day of release on parole is credited as a day in confinement. Parole violators will not be credited with good conduct time or extra good time which was earned prior to the date of their release on parole.

4. Operation of sentences. a. Beginning date. The date the sentence of a court-martial is adjudged will mark the beginning of the sentence to confinement whether or not the accused had then been placed in confinement.

b. Multiple sentences. A sentence to confinement adjudged by a court-martial will not be served concurrently with any other sentence to confinement adjudged by a court-martial or a civil court.

- (1) When a prisoner serving a court-martial sentence to confinement adjudged on or after 31 May 1951 is subsequently convicted by a court-martial for another offense and sentenced to a term of confinement, the subsequent sentence, upon being ordered into execution, will begin to run as of the date adjudged and will interrupt the running of the prior sentence. After the subsequent sentence has been executed fully the prisoner will resume the service of any unremitting interrupted sentence to confinement. When the suspension of a sentence is vacated, the unexecuted portion of the sentence to confinement will begin to run on the date the vacation of the suspension becomes effective, and the execution thereof will interrupt the running of any other sentence to confinement which the prisoner may be serving at the time.

- (2) A sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951 which includes confinement without discharge, followed by a sentence including both confinement and discharge, whether or not the discharge is suspended, will be regarded as having terminated upon the date the sentence including discharge takes effect, leaving to be executed only the discharge and confinement adjudged by the second sentence.
- (3) A prisoner in confinement under sentence including discharge, whether or not the discharge is suspended, who receives a subsequent sentence or sentences to confinement adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, either with or without discharge, will serve all of the sentences consecutively.
- (4) A prisoner in confinement under a sentence including discharge, whether or not the discharge is suspended, adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, who receives a subsequent sentence or sentences to confinement, adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, will, subject to any limitation as to the designation of the place of confinement, serve all of the sentences in the manner prescribed in (1) above.
- (5) The vacation of the suspension of a prior sentence which includes a discharge and confinement operates to remit the unexecuted portion of any sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951 which does not include discharge and is ordered executed during the period of suspension.

c. Aggregation of sentences.

- (1) Two or more sentences which were adjudged prior to 31 May 1951 standing against a prisoner will be considered in the aggregate for the purpose of computing the date of eligibility for parole, restoration to duty, and the short term expiration date of the sentences.
- (2) Except as provided in (4) below, two or more sentences adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, standing against a prisoner will be considered in the aggregate to determine the rate of earning abatement for good conduct time and the dates of eligibility for parole and restoration to duty.

- (3) Sentences adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, will be considered in the aggregate with sentences adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, for the purpose of determining dates of eligibility for parole and restoration to duty, but not for the purpose of determining expiration dates or rates of earning good conduct time.
- (4) A parole violator term on a sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, will not be considered in the aggregate with any subsequent sentence to determine the rate of earning abatement for good conduct, but will be considered in the aggregate to determine the date of eligibility for reparole and restoration to duty.
- (5) A parole violator term on a sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, will be considered in the aggregate with any other sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, for the purpose of computing the date of eligibility for reparole, restoration to duty, and the short term expiration date of the sentence.
- (6) A parole violator term on a sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, will be considered in the aggregate with any sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, for the purpose of determining dates of eligibility for reparole and restoration to duty, but not for the purpose of determining expiration dates or rates of earning abatement.

d. Sentences adjudged on rehearing and new trials.
In computing the term of confinement actually to be served under a sentence adjudged upon a rehearing, or upon a new trial ordered under Uniform Code of Military Justice, Article 73, the prisoner will be credited with any confinement served or executed prior to the date the original sentence was set aside. Confinement served between the date the original sentence was set aside and the date the new sentence is adjudged is inoperative.

e. Sentences adjudged at "another trial" (para. 92, p. 160, MCM, 1951). When court-martial proceedings have been declared invalid because of lack of jurisdiction or failure of the charges to allege any offense cognizable by courts-martial and another trial has been ordered, no credit for confinement served under the prior sentence will be given in computing the term of confinement to be served pursuant to an approved sentence adjudged at the subsequent trial. However, the prisoner will be credited with abatement earned prior to the date the first sentence is set aside.

f. Remission, vacation, or suspension of sentences. See Uniform Code of Military Justice, Articles 71, 72, and 74.

5. Operative and inoperative time. a. Operative. A sentence to confinement, hard labor without confinement, restriction to limits, or deprivation of privileges is continuous until the term expires and is interrupted only by inoperative time.

b. Inoperative. Inoperative time consists of any period during which a prisoner is not credited with serving his sentence. Inoperative time will include the period while absent without authority; while absent from confinement on a parole which proper authority has suspended and later revoked; while erroneously released from confinement through misrepresentation or fraud on the part of the prisoner; while absent after delivery to civil authorities, if subsequently convicted by a civil tribunal; while in a restored to duty status under a suspended sentence, the suspension of which is later vacated; or while the sentence is interrupted as prescribed in paragraph 4b(1). An escaped prisoner who is returned to military authority, but whose status as a prisoner is not known to such authority, and who conceals his status as a prisoner, continues to be "absent without authority" within the meaning of this regulation.

c. Rehearings and new trials. Operative and inoperative time on sentences adjudged upon rehearings or new trials will be governed by the operation of sentences as set forth in paragraph 4d.

6. Abatements. a. Good conduct time.

- (1) Abatement of sentence for good conduct will be credited according to the rates authorized in paragraphs 10 and 13.
- (2) For the purpose of computing good conduct time which can be earned on a sentence, all months of the sentence will be considered as calendar months and all fractions of months will be considered as fractions of 30 days.

- (3) In order to secure uniformity in computing abatement of terms of confinement, a prisoner will be credited at the beginning of his confinement under sentence with all good conduct time which can be earned during the entire period of his sentence.
- (4) In crediting abatements earnable under a sentence, fractions of days will be disregarded.
- (5) An action that results in the remission, mitigation, or disapproval of a portion of the sentence to confinement may result in the application of a lesser rate of earning good conduct abatement, and thereby increase the sentence to confinement by extending the minimum release date. To prevent this increase, it is necessary in such cases to determine the minimum release date which would have resulted if such action had not been taken to reduce the sentence, and the minimum release date of the sentence as reduced, and to select the date which will permit the earlier release of the prisoner. However, in all cases, the maximum release date will be the date established for the sentence as finally approved or as subsequently modified.

b. Extra good time.

- (1) A prisoner in confinement in a disciplinary barracks serving a sentence or sentences for a definite term or terms of confinement, other than for life, may earn extra good time for employment in industries, work projects, or other activities or assignments at the rates and under the conditions prescribed in AR 210-170.
- (2) A military prisoner in confinement in a Federal penal or correctional institution may earn extra good time at the rates and under the conditions prescribed by the United States Department of Justice.
- (3) All extra good time earned while serving a sentence to confinement will reduce the period of time to be spent in confinement under that sentence on an actual day.

basis, regardless of the date the sentence was adjudged.

c. Abatement earned and credited while in Federal custody.

- (1) Sentences adjudged prior to 31 May 1951.
  - (a) Good conduct abatement earned on sentences which provided for confinement in Federal penal or correctional institutions will be credited at the statutory rate prescribed for such institutions for that period of the sentence served in a Federal penal or correctional institution and at the rate prescribed for Army and Air Force confinement facilities for that period of time actually served in such facilities. If a prisoner having served a period of time in a Federal penal or correctional institution is transferred to an Army or Air Force confinement facility, the good conduct abatement credited at statutory rates prescribed for Federal institutions will be recomputed, whenever the sentence is reduced, on the basis of the current length of sentence. For the effect a reduction in length of sentence will have on forfeitures, see paragraph 7a(3).
  - (b) Good conduct abatement earned on sentences in which military custody was originally designated, even though the prisoner is subsequently transferred to a Federal penal or correctional institution and returned, will be credited at the rate prescribed for an Army or Air Force confinement facility for the entire period of the sentence.
- (2) Sentences adjudged on or after 31 May 1951.
  - (a) Good time abatement for Army or Air Force prisoners confined in Federal penal or correctional institutions is computed according to the rates established by 18 USC 4161. Good time abatement for Army or Air Force prisoners confined in institutions over which the Departments of the Army or Air Force have control, is computed according to paragraph 13a through g of this regulation.

(b) The good conduct time credited on the sentence of a prisoner who served in a Federal penal or correctional institution any portion of a sentence and who is returned to an Army or Air Force confinement facility, will be recomputed whenever the length of the sentence or sentences is changed so as to change the rate of earning good conduct abatement. (For the effect a change in length of sentence will have on forfeitures, see paragraph 7a(4).)

d. Abatements for prisoners whose sentences include fines. The period of confinement imposed solely for nonpayment of a fine will not be reduced by credit for good conduct time or extra good time.

e. Abatements while awaiting rehearing. The period between the date on which a trial is disapproved and a rehearing is conducted is inoperative time. Sentence abatement of any type, or forfeiture thereof, is not contemplated during this period.

7. Forfeiture of abatements.

a. Good conduct abatement.

- (1) Forfeiture of good conduct time will be according to the rates authorized in paragraphs 10 and 13.
- (2) If, during the term of imprisonment, a prisoner violates the rules of the institution or commits any offense, all or any part of the good conduct time which has been earned on any unexpired sentence, regardless of where earned, may be forfeited upon approval by the commanding officer of the installation where the prisoner is confined.
- (3) When forfeitures of good conduct time are imposed, the minimum release date of the sentence will be extended by the actual number of days forfeited. Forfeiture will not be imposed in excess of the amount of good conduct time that has actually been earned at the date of the forfeiture.
- (4) If a reduction in the length of a sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, requires the recomputation of the good conduct time earnable on the sentence at a rate lower than that applicable at the time of imposition of a forfeiture of all good conduct time earned to the date of the forfeiture, the amount of good conduct time forfeited will be recomputed at the rate applicable to the length of the sentence, as reduced. An increase in the rate of earning good conduct time on a sentence will have no effect upon the amount of good conduct time previously forfeited.

- (5) On sentences adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, all good conduct time earned prior to the date of release on parole will be forfeited for violation of the terms of parole.

Note. For instructions covering a parole violator term on a sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, see paragraph 2h(2).

- (6) If a prisoner absents himself from a place of confinement through escape, violation of local parole, failure to return from a temporary home parole, or any other unauthorized absence, all of his good conduct time earned prior to and including the day such unauthorized absence begins, will be forfeited.

- (7) Good conduct time may be forfeited administratively for the following reasons:

- (a) A sentenced military person whose sentence includes confinement and discharge or dismissal may be temporarily retained in the status of a prisoner for a brief period of time following the date on which he is due for release with credits for abatement, provided he agrees in writing to remain voluntarily in confinement for the period desired. Such action will be taken only in exceptional cases, such as those in which temporary hospitalization or medical treatment is required or where brief periods of time are required for completion of restoration proceedings or other arrangements for the benefit of the prisoner.

(b) Pending disposition of a psychotic or suspected psychotic sentenced military person whose sentence includes confinement and discharge or dismissal, credit for abatement may be administratively forfeited without prejudice to the record of the prisoner and without his consent.

- (8) Sentences which have expired with allowance for abatement may not be revived for the purpose of forfeiting abatements earned thereon.
- (9) If the computation of the total amount of good conduct time forfeited to the date of the last forfeiture results in a fraction of a day, the fraction will be disregarded.
- (10) To determine the amount of good conduct time which may be forfeited, the rates prescribed in sections II and III will be used.

b. Extra good time.

- (1) Extra good time earned on a sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, may not be forfeited.
- (2) Extra good time earned on a sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, is subject to forfeiture in the same manner as good conduct time.

8. Restoration of forfeited abatement. a. Forfeited abatements, regardless of where forfeited, may be restored by the commanding officer of the installation where the prisoner is presently confined.

b. Good conduct time forfeited for parole violation on a sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, may be restored.

Note. For instructions concerning a parole violator term on a sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, see paragraph 2h(2).

9. Remission of sentence. The remission of a sentence operates to cancel all credits for good conduct time and extra good time earned under the sentence and all inoperative time applicable to that sentence.

Section II. SENTENCES ADJUDGED PRIOR TO 31 MAY 1951

10. Rate of abatement for good conduct. All prisoners with a sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, will be credited with good time at the applicable rates as shown in a through d below for that portion of sentences served in military installations. These rates will be used for determination of tentative minimum release dates (deducting from the maximum release date the total good time allowance for the sentence, the allowance determined by multiplying the number of months in the sentence by the applicable monthly rate) and for forfeiture and withholding of good time. Forfeiture of good time will be limited to an amount computed by multiplying the number of months served at the time of the offense for which forfeiture action is taken times the applicable rate specified below (less any previous forfeiture and withholding still outstanding). Good time will continue to accrue, for purpose of forfeiture computation, beyond the minimum release date. Similarly, good time may be withheld from prisoners serving past the minimum release date.

- a.* Five days for each month of the sentence for a sentence of 1 year or less.
- b.* Five days for each month for the first 12 months of the sentence and 10 days for each succeeding month of the sentence if the sentence, other than life, exceeds 1 year.
- c.* Upon each succeeding sentence adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, abatement will be credited at the rate of 10 days for each month of the sentence, provided the prisoner has served 1 year of an immediately preceding sentence which included discharge and the prisoner has not been on a duty status subsequent to the date the immediately preceding sentence either was remitted or expired with credit for abatement.
- d.* Good conduct time will be credited on a portion of a month of a sentence in accordance with the following chart:

Days in confinement	Rate of Earning
	Minimum, or 1 day for each 6 days in confinement	Maximum, or 1 day for each 3 days in confinement	Days in confinement	Minimum, or 1 day for each 6 days in confinement	Maximum, or 1 day for each 3 days in confinement
1	0	0	16	2	5
2	0	0	17	2	5
3	0	1	18	3	6
4	0	1	19	3	6
5	0	1	20	3	6
6	1	2	21	3	7
7	1	2	22	3	7
8	1	2	23	3	7
9	1	3	24	4	8
10	1	3	25	4	8
11	1	3	26	4	8
12	2	4	27	4	9
13	2	4	28	4	9
14	2	4	29	4	9
15	2	5	30	5	10

11. Inoperative time. For sentences adjudged prior to 31 May 1951, inoperative time will extend the expiration date of a sentence on an actual day basis for any period of time spent in escape, and on a calendar month and days basis for all other periods of inoperative time. The beginning date of such period of inoperative time will be considered as a day out of confinement, but the portion of a day spent in confinement which terminated the period will be credited as a full day in confinement. Periods of less than 24 hours spent in an escape status will not extend the expiration date of a sentence.

12. Method of computation. a. In converting to years, months, and days the amount of good conduct time which a military prisoner can earn on a sentence, years are assumed to consist of 360 days and months of 30 days; thus, on a sentence of 5 years, a prisoner can earn 540 days of good conduct time at the rates prescribed in paragraph 10, which, converted to months and days, equals 1 year and 6 months. To arrive at the amount of time to be served in confinement on the sentence, convert the good conduct earnings to months and days (if more than 30 days), and subtract this amount from the total sentence.

Section III. SENTENCES ADJUDGED ON OR AFTER 31 MAY 1951

13. Rate of abatement for good conduct. All prisoners with a sentence adjudged on or after 31 May 1951, who are confined in institutions over which the Departments of the Army or Air Force have control, will be credited with good time at the applicable rates as shown in a through g below. These rates will be used for determination of tentative minimum release dates (deducting from the maximum release date the total good time allowance for the sentence, the allowance determined by multiplying the number of months in the sentence by the applicable monthly rate) and for forfeiture and withholding of good time. Forfeiture of good time will be limited to an amount computed by multiplying the number of months served at the time of the offense for which forfeiture action is taken times the applicable rate specified below (less any previous forfeiture and withholding still outstanding). Good time will continue to accrue, for purposes of forfeiture computation, beyond the minimum release date. Similarly, good time may be withheld from prisoners serving past the minimum release date.

a. Five days for each month of the sentence for a sentence of less than 1 year.

b. Six days for each month of the sentence for a sentence of not less than 1 year and less than 3 years.

c. Seven days for each month of the sentence for a sentence of not less than 3 years and less than 5 years.

d. Eight days for each month of the sentence for a sentence of not less than 5 years and less than 10 years.

e. Ten days for each month of the sentence for a sentence of 10 years or more, excluding life.

f. If the term of confinement is reduced, or if an additional sentence increases the term of confinement to be served, the good conduct time will be recomputed at the rate of abatement appropriate to the new term of confinement, provided consideration of the sentences in the aggregate is not prohibited.

g. Good conduct time will be credited on a portion of a month of a sentence in accordance with the following chart:

Rate of Earnings
Portion of month of sent	Less than 1 year	Not less than 1 year and less than 3 years	Not less than 3 years and less than 5 years	Not less than 5 years and less than 10 years	10 years and over, excluding life	Portion of month of sent 14. Method of computation. a. All abatement time reduces the maximum release date on an actual day basis and all inoperative time extends the maximum release date on an actual day basis. Portions of days served in confinement on the dates beginning and terminating any inoperative period, including a period of escapes, will be considered as full days in confinement.

Section IV. TABLE OF CONSECUTIVE DAYS

15. Use of table. In the table, paragraph 16, each day from 1 January 1950 through 31 December 1994 has been numbered in sequence, taking into consideration the varying number of days in each month, including leap years. The table may be used to compute the exact number of days between any two dates and may be used in adding or subtracting any actual number of days to or from a given date. The following are examples of use of table:

a. It is desired to determine the exact number of days between 7 February 1962 and 31 December 1966. The exact number of days between these two dates is 1788.

Computation:

*On page headed "1966" and opposite "31" under column headed "Dec" will be found "8766".

**On page headed "1962" and opposite "7" under column headed "Feb" will be found "6978".

b. It is desired to arrive at a new expiration date of a sentence by extending the former expiration date, 17 May 1964, by 384 actual days due to a forfeiture of good conduct time. The new expiration date of the sentence is 5 June 1965.

**It will be found that "8192" is on the page headed "1965" and under the column headed "Jun" opposite "5".

c. It is desired to compute the minimum release date of a prisoner's sentence which, when added to the adjudged date, extends beyond the last date included in the table.
